Senior Lecturer in Sociology
School of Social Science
3009866 /Full-time, Continuing /Level C

Dear Sir,

The purpose of this letter is to submit my application for the position of senior lecturer in sociology at the University of Queensland. Upon review of the position's description I feel fully qualified for the job. My educational background in Medical Anthropology and Sociology along with a long teaching career makes me a suitable candidate for this position.

As you will read in the enclosed CV, my degrees have given me a solid theoretical base in social sciences combined with a worldwide investigation background. My professional profile not only fit with the spirit of your campus but would also match the sociology innovative professor profile that you require for the position. My resume also shows a long-lasting engagement in publishing.

I therefore believe that I possess a solid theoretical, methodological and practical background combined with an all encompassing teaching expertise that would assist your institution to develop the class topics and materials at the different educational levels required for the position.

I currently live near Santiago (Spain) with my wife Ana and our six years old son Daniel. I have a teaching position I do enjoy but I am willing to work and live a few years in your country. My wife and son will not move with me to Australia at first but would visit me once I am established in your country. If this opportunity reveals itself to be suitable for both parties, my family may consider moving there as well. I sincerely believe that I could be a perfect addition to your faculty

I look forward to meeting you.

Yours sincerely,

Manuel Torres Cubeiro
